Case Study

QCommission ensures clean commissions for Dome Cleaning.

Dome Cleaning, Inc. is a professional cleaning company with two divisions designed to meet the cleaning needs of commercial and residential clients. Their operations division provides janitorial services for commercial clients. They typically perform these services in the common areas of Homeowners' Associations and apartment buildings during the day and in commercial properties in the day or night.

Dome had a major challenge calculating commissions with their manual processes. Tracking estimated against actual hours was done in Excel by manually extracting information from QuickBooks. They need a lot of other unique information to include in their calculation such as:

- paying on gross profit of job
- subtracting labor and overhead
- different rates for special cleaning jobs
- 2 and 3 way splits
- pay on paid invoices
- bi-weekly calculations

This process was very time consuming for their comp administrator so they started looking for a solution. The company chose to utilize the software QCommission which integrates with QuickBooks, to automate their commission administration. Accurate calculation and simple administration were the key deciding factors in selecting QCommission. Alan Marwill, President of Dome, selected QCommission based on the fact that this is the only software that can meet their requirements at the right price especially during this current economic crisis.

Tweetie, the office manager who is the comp administrator, was very pleased with QCommission when she tested the results of the first period run. "The outstanding level of service support by the implementation team was amazing", said Tweetie.

On the first month, the company could see their ROI realized - from the reduced amount of time spent, error free calculation and professional looking statements. "QCommission has tremendously helped us in our commission calculation. The automated process of calculating commission payments assure both the company and our sales people of accurate commission calculation, and in less than half the time it usually took!" said Tweetie. "We will definitely recommend this software to others," she adds.
